Task 3: Writing a report.

If you asked eight people question 1 and they all said 'yes', you could write: All of the people interviewed have travelled into town by car in the last two weeks.

What would you write if they all said 'no'?

Put these phrases on the line below:

all of the people

most of the people

some people

half the people only a few people

only one person

none of the people

Now you can report your findings. For example:

The results of the survey show that only one person has used public transport in the last two weeks but most of the people interviewed have travelled into town by car.

Sometimes we use has instead of have. Can you complete the sentence with a phrase from above:
